Kellum

Bayside

Don't lift me up.
If you're strong intent on dropping me back down.
Are you like this?
Afraid to be yourself?
And if you somehow get through all of this
Without hating yourself for all of it
And you know that I will hate you enough for the both of us.Spent that night alone,
The first in a long time.
Forgotten all the loneliness and darkness in my life.
But you lost a friend
The day that you let go
To drown in a sea of regret and no one knows
That I'm alone and I cant blame anyone but you
Self-loathing once filled me, but now I know the truth.
Spent that night alone,
The first in a long time.
Forgotten all the loneliness and darkness in my life.
But you lost a friend
The day that you let go
To drown in a sea of regret and no one knows.
Spent that night alone,
The first in a long time.
Forgotten all the loneliness and darkness in my life.
But you lost a friend
The day that you let go
To drown in a sea of regret and no one knows.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/