What's Inside

Michael McEachern

Here I am
I know I'm not as you planned
Because I'm no knight and I'm no prince
But I am convinced
That I can sweep you off your feet
With this simple melody
But I'm singing to your balcony
Won't you open up the doors
Oh, won't you open up the doors'Cause I just want to see what's inside
Inside your heart, inside your mind
What makes you laugh what makes you cry
Oh I, just want to see what's inside
There you are
So resistant with your heart on guard
But I'm persistent
No, I'm not giving up
No, I'm not giving in
There's too much to lose
There's too much to win'Cause I just want to see what's inside
Inside your heart, inside your mind
What makes you laugh what makes you cry
Oh I, just want to see what's insideI'd like to think that this battle could be won
With bullets and with guns
In the form of your words
By the shape of your tongue
I aimed for you but I missed the mark
I missed the mark
I missed your heart
'Cause I just want to see what's inside
Inside your heart, inside your mind
What makes you laugh what makes you cry
Oh I, just want to see what's inside
