

Backseat

Kip Moore

We was just kids, but she looked like a woman
Everything she was, was everything I wanted
We were both willing, but still a little guarded
She smiled, I smiled, that's when it all started
The two of us in the backseat
Lights off on a backstreet
I'd show her and then she'd show me
Right there, right there in the backseat
Yeah, in the backseat
I'd flashed the headlights and she slipped out the back door
Didn't have to say nothing, we knew what we in for
With every first kiss, I could feel her heart race
I'd fumble with the buttons while she was touching my face
And what to do next, she knew that I didn't know
She'd smile and say "Boy make it up as you go"
The two of us in the backseat
Lights off on a backstreet
I'd show her and then she'd show me
Right there, right there in the backseat
Yeah, in the backseat
Sometimes I think about her, yeah sometimes
I guess you never forget your first time
The two of us in the backseat
Lights off on a backstreet
I'd show her and then she'd show me
Right there, right there in the backseat
Yeah, in the backseat

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>