Restless

Hundredth

I never asked to be but you made this in me. And I feed it. My skin knows evil so well But it never knew you. And i never asked to be held But you made this You made this in me Feed it, i feed it And my skin knows evil so well But it never knew you And i feed it alone from the disgust And i held my hands. I starved you of life When you had just Shown me love, Shown me love, Shown me love. Still that wasn't enough for me. Enough for me. The taste of you grew so old, And the touch of your ugly skin. Stop breathing And feel my sickness, Feel my bones rotting thin. Rotting thin! And i never asked to be held But you made this And you made this in me 'Cause my skin knows evil so well, And never knew you. You came back to find me. He came here to find me, And I didn't deserve for you to care. Disgust had taken hold of me, And you hoped That love would stay inside. That love would ever stay inside, And I hope it would stay inside. But like a cancer creeping slowly It could never survive.

Never survive,
Never survive,
Never survive.
It could never survive!

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/