

Say You Will

Fleetwood Mac

Something in you brought out something in me that i've never been since that part of me that was only for you that kind of romance comes only once, that kind of love that kind of fever dance that you love because you've become someone else in an instant
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance at least give me time to change your mind that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance Something in you put a hold on my heart it's hard to believe now here is a place that will never be dark i remember that place that kind of touch, electricity of love that certain kind of grace that you love because you become someone else
in an instant
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance
at least give me time to change your mind
that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say you will)
at least give me time to change your mind (say you will)
that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance (say you will)
at least give me time to change your mind (say you will)
that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance
at least give me time to change your mind
that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance
Say you will, say you will give me one more chance
at least give me time to change your mind

that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance [children's voices]
say you will, say you will give me one more chance
at least give me time to change your mind
that always seems to heal the wounds
if i can get you to dance

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>