Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
    Oh Lord, I think I heard you
Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
    Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you

Oh Lord, I think I heard you So all of a sudden I'm facing the raging river that passed me by
    Do I turn around, do I turn my eye to the sun
        In the apex of the high, high noon
    I'm on a flatbed yellow pickup underneath the half moon
        Cut me, cut me, cut me some slack, Jack
    And jump on the back, if you can handle the candle
        Then you can't handle the wax
        Your just going to get sacked
            It's as simple as that.

But before I know it I'm going down this little bitty river
    In a boat a little bigger than a bath tub
        My bones begin to shiver 'cause I'm aching to deliver
    This water that I must give her, can I get some? Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
        Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
        Oh Lord, I think I heard you
    (I think I heard you, yeah) Down by the railway station
        People move a new direction
        Take a ticket from who you can
            And then drive that train
                (Repeat)
    She was a black Thai bombshell out of Bombay
    She was easy on the eyes so I had nothing to say
        Said take your water to the Leprechaun man
    You got to the bell rings three, do you understand?
        Little piece of me wants to go (I don't know)
        Turn around and what do ya do? (I don't know)
    Look at me, what do ya do? (I don't know) DING DONG DING
        (That's the bell!)
        And I know you know I know I don't know you very well
        But if I did I would groove, and hit the ground running
But I don't, and I won't, so you've got another thing coming He kicked up the river with a flick of his wrist
    I popped him in the kisser cause I couldn't resist
    I said to my sidekick, I'm up to my high wick
        And now I'm getting a little homesick
    So before I know it I'm going down this little bitty river
        In a boat a little bigger than a bath tub

My bones begin to shiver 'cause I'm aching to deliver
This water that I must give her, can I get some?Before I know it I'm going down this little bitty river

In a boat a little bigger than a bath tub
My bones begin to shiver 'cause I'm aching to deliver
This water that I must give her, can I get some?Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you

Yeah Yeah, I think I heard you
Oh Lord, I think I heard you
(I think I heard you, yeah)Down by the railway station

People move a new direction
Take a ticket from who you can
And then drive that train
(Repeat)Drive it, Drive it
I said now, Drive it, Drive it.
I said now, Drive it, Drive it.
You've got to drive your train
Ride it, Ride it.
I said now Ride it, Ride it.
I said now Ride it, Ride it.

You've got to ride your trainYeah Yeah, (now ride it, you've got to ride it)
