Worship You

Kane Brown

Your kisses have a higher power
Your body, baby, it's divine
Every time I see you smileIt's like I've seen the lightSleeping next to you is heaven
But you already know about that
Wanna glorify every part of you so badDon't get me wrong
I'm a God-fearing Christian man
But if you were a religion, then damn
I don't know what I'd do
Yeah, I might have to worship you
I might have to sing your praise
I might have to go to church, yeah
Every single night and day
Yeah, I might have to hit my knees
'Cause you lay it on me like the truth
And you love me like hallelujah
I might have to worship you
Yeah, I might have to worship you
I might have to worship you (I might have to worship you)
Now I ain't saying you can walk on water
Or that you can turn it into wine
But, girl, it feels like a miracle that you're mineSo don't get me wrong
I'm a God-fearing Christian man
But if you were a religion, then damn
Yeah, I don't know what I'd do
Yeah, I might have to worship you
I might have to sing your praise
I might have to go to church, yeah
Every single night and day
Yeah, I might have to hit my knees
'Cause you lay it on me like the truth
And you love me like hallelujah
I might have to worship you
I might have to worship you
Said, I might have to worship you
Don't get me wrong
I'm a God-fearing Christian man
But if you were a religion, then damn
Said, I don't know what I'd do
Yeah, I might have to worship you
I might have to sing your praise
I might have to go to church, yeah
Every single night and day

I might have to hit my knees
'Cause you lay it on me like the truth
And you love me like hallelujah
I might have to worship you
Yeah, I might have to worship you
I might have to worship you (I might have to worship you)

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/