

Surface

Mindy Smith

Everybody's searching
Trying to find a reason to live in this world of fallen kingdoms
Looking for a little truth
'Cause maybe just a little truth will get us throughSo you find yourself believing you can jump into the deep end
And still survive, still surviveBut you're coming to the surface, getting back in focus
Bound to find your way back home
Everybody's searching on
The devil's so deceiving
You can almost hear him creeping, dancing around your soul
And trying his best to keep you from the truth
'Cause he knows a little truth will get you throughSo you hide there in the trenches building up defenses
To survive, just surviveBut you're coming to the surface, getting back in focus
Determined you can get back home
Everybody's searching onLife's hard, why do we make it so hard?
It's already hard, why do we make it so hard?
Coming to the surface, getting back in focus
Determined you can get back home
I know you'll find your way back home
Everybody's searching on
