

Change

Jack Johnson

Just when you were getting used to this place
You were getting used to these bones
You were getting used to the changes
Well the change wont leave you alone You finally caught up with the pace
The tough just might have got going
You thought you could trust all the faces
Well theyre only on one side of the coin All these changes
Different stages
Turning page after page after page
It gets stranger day by day Set your eyes straight up ahead
Dont look down when you cross
And pay no mind to time its a punch line
The joke is on all of us
All these changes
Different stages
Turning page after page after page
It gets stranger day by day

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>