Don't Wanna Think

Julia Michaels

Now I'm not really one for drinking songs
But I guess that I should probably write one
'Cause I'm feeling pretty lonely
He's the only thing that holds me right now
Now I'm not really one for drinking songs
But I guess if I'm not wrapped here in your arms
Then I can't talk about love
And who wants to talk about love?
Oh, oh, oh, oh
I don't wanna risk
Oh, oh, oh, oh
No, I don't wanna think about you right now
Don't wanna think about you right now
'Cause if I did, it would be damn bad
And I'd show up at your house
I was screaming at your door
Saying: What the fuck is wrong with you?
I thought that we were good enough
I thought that you needed love
No, I don't wanna think about you right now
Don't wanna think about you right now
Oh, oh, oh, ohNow I'm not really one for drinking songs
But, f*ck it here it comes out
Heartbreak is annoying
And I feel it in the morning
Swallow it down like a bitter pill
At least it'll taste better than this feeling will
And I don't like myself
And I'm just standing still
No, I don't wanna think about you right now
Don't wanna think about you right now
'Cause if I did, it would be damn bad
And I'd show up at your house
I was screaming at your door
Saying: What the fuck is wrong with you?
I thought that we were good enough
I thought that you needed loveI know that when I wake up there's gonna be seven texts and three calls to you
And I'm not gonna know what to do
I'll make up some excuse about how that was meant for someone else
When the truth is I'm not over you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/