

Demon Limbs (Acoustic)

PVRIS

oh i know i can feel the shifting in my bones enclosed are the senses so unknown i've been changing, falling, fading there's demons at the door patiently waitingbut i wasn't composed of broken bones or demon limbs

so please watch over me and be the light to carry me please be the light that carries mei can feel it being torn from my hands; my innocence this change is all so permanent can't you see the change in me? i said it's all so permanent theres no placement no arrangement of words that i could say to keep these changes awaybut i wasn't composed of broken bones or demon limbs

please be the light that carries me this world is a masterpiece i canvas sheet accountable for such losses shout out to the artist who took his heart and his soul and lost them both in the processif it gets ahold of me

please be the saint to save me
