

Yo Love

Vince Staples, 6LACK & Mereba

Ride for you, I
Ride for you, I
Ride for you, I Ride for you, I-I
Ride for you, ?I
Ride?for you, I
Ride?for you, I
Ride for you, I Look?alive, life too short, mine is built with the reports
Speakin' 'bout me and you, since they got me off the porch
I been beaten black and blue
Story of my life, tell me something' about you
Where you from? Did you stay or did you run?
You ever thought about a daughter or a son? No
You lookin' for a Jason Lyric or a Love Jones
I know you probably sick of love songs, but
I'd do life for your love
I would probably swing a knife for your love
Go against everything right for your love
And I would probably man down them
If they ever tried to stifle your love
Cross the line, I just might for your love I still remember when we used to all pretend
Afraid to be in love, afraid to just be friends
I still remember when you used to call me up
Was broken-hearted, young, my nigga dug you, yeah
Baby, don't hold no grudge, you know I hold you down
And if they ever try, I got a hundred rounds
Until the day we die, and then we in the sky
Forever loyal in the moment, or immortal
I'd do life for your live
I would probably swing a knife for your live
Go against everything right for your love
And I would probably man down them
If they ever tried to stifle your love
Cross the line, I just might for your love She my forever thing, baby, you more than great
I never say a word, it's verse forty-eight
Look I remember when we started poppin', yeah
You stole my eye, I stole your heart down at the county fair
Now if first come to worst, I left a note in your purse
Just remember me from this verse, I'm turnin' myself in
I can't pretend, we both goin' down the road
I need you to have my seed, set the legacy in stone I'd do life for your live
I would probably swing a knife for your live
Go against everything right for your love

And I would probably man down them if they ever tried to stifle your love
Cross the line, I just might for your love
