

All the Right Problems

Chris Lane

You look a little lonely, well I am too
Both getting over someone, both had a few
Both waiting on sad song, but they don't play no more
Both about to throw in the towel, walk back out the door But I'm so glad you came Both our stories sound the same
I don't even know your name
What's your name, what's your name We got all the right problems in all the right places
Start with what you're drinking and see where it takes us
Hey, maybe two neon wrongs can make a right
'Cause baby we got all the right problems tonight (Yeah-yeah, yeah-yeah) All the right problems, baby
(Yeah-yeah, yeah-yeah)
Is that your only tattoo, have you ever been to Costa Rica, me neither
We're getting there, doubling down on these margaritas Girl, look at you and me, having nowhere else to be Let's try to fix a couple more till somebody makes us leave We got all the right problems in all the right places
Let's just keep on drinking and see where it takes us
Hey, maybe two neon wrongs can make a right
'Cause baby we got all the right problems tonight All the right problems, baby
Yeah-yeah Well nothing gets solved in one night
But I'm sure having a heck of a time
Trying We got all the right problems in all the right places
Start with what you're drinking and see where it takes us
Hey, maybe two neon wrongs can make a right
'Cause baby we got all the right problems tonight
(Yeah yeah, yeah yeah) All the right problems
(Yeah yeah, yeah yeah) All the right problems tonight
(Yeah yeah, yeah yeah)
(Yeah yeah, yeah yeah)

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>