

Love Don't Live Here

Lady Antebellum

Well This heart of mine
Has been hardened like a stone
It might take some time
To get back what is gone But I'm movin' on
And you don't hold my dreams
Like you did before
Oh, and I will curse your name, hey!...
Well, I heard the news
That you were back in town
And just passin' through To claim your lost and found
But I'm over you
And there ain't nothin' there
That you could say or do
To take what you did back
You've got nerve to waltz right in And think what's mine is yours again
'Cause I been doin' fine without you
Forgettin' all the love we once knew And girl, I ain't the one that slammed that door
And now you say you've changed your thinkin'
But I ain't got a heart for breakin'
So go and pick your bags up off my floor Oh, 'cause love don't live here anymore, oh no
Well baby, you can try
To tell me how it is
And try to justify Everything you did
But honey, I'm no fool
Oh, and I been down this road
Too many times with you
And I think it's best you go
Well, I got one thing left to say That you can lay in the bed you made
'Cause I been doin' fine without you
Forgettin' all the love we once knew And girl, I ain't the one that slammed that door
Oh, should've known
That now you'll say you changed your thinkin'
But I ain't got a heart for breakin'
So go and pick your bags up off my floor
Oh, 'cause love don't live here anymore, oh no
That love don't live here anymore
Oh, no, no! Should've known, no
You don't live here anymore
Love don't live here anymore
And since you walked out of my door
Love don't live here, love don't live here, girl
Oh, love don't live here anymore!

...
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>