

Parting of the Sensory

Modest Mouse

There's no work in walking and it fueled the talk
I would grab my shoes and then away I'd walk
"Beyond the" stubborn beauty I'd" start at the dawn
Until the sun had fully stopped
Never walking away from
Just a way to pull apart
Dehydrate back into minerals
A life long walk to the Same exact spotCarbon's anniversary
The parting of the sensory
Old, old news to read
The parting of the sensoryWho the hell made you the boss
We placed our chips in all the right spots, but still lost
Any shithead who had ever walked
Could take this ship and do a much finer job
These fit like clothes made out of wasps
Aw, fuck it I guess I lostThe parting of the sensory
Carbon's anniversary
Just part it again if you please
Carbon's anniversaryWho the hell made you the boss?
If you say what to do I know when not to stop
If you were the ship who would ever get on
The weather changed it for the worseAnd came down on us like it had been rehearsed
And like we hope, but change will surely come
And be awful for most but really good for some
I took a trip to the exact same spot
We pulled the trigger, but we forgot to cock
And every single shot
Aw, fuck it I guess we lost
Some day you will die and somehow
Something's going to steal your carbon
Some day you will die and somehow
Something's going to steal your carbonWell, some day you will die somehow
And something's going to steal your carbon
Some day you will die and someone's
Or something's will steal your carbonSome day, something will die and Somehow you'll figure out how Often you will die somehow and
Something's going to steal your carbonThe thing is you will die
And you will probably just steal it's carbon
Some day you will die somehow
And something's going to steal your carbonSome day, somehow or something will die

And you will steal it's carbon
Somehow you will die and you'll figure out how Often you will die somehow
And something's going to steal your carbonSome day you will die somehow
And someone's going to steal your carbon
Some day you will die and somehow
You'll figure out how oftenSome day you will die somehow
And something's going to steal your carbon
You will die and somehow
It's going to steal yourI'd have figure out and find out, we were bathed in carbon
You will figure out that somehow you will
Some day you will die somehow
And something's going to steal your carbon
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>