

A Moment

Amber Riley

God knows I'm tired
They think I know hell and that hell ain't got no time
And it just hits you like a bullet
Now I need a moment alone with my soul
I can't stop these thoughts
I need peace I'm ready to fight, I'm ready to see
What's on the other side
I'm ready to cry, and just let it be I just gotta
Let it be
I don't have much pride
I'll put that aside to get back to me
Everybody thinks I'm okay
But don't nobody know the way I'm really feeling
Only heaven knows that nothing hurts more Than falling
When you think you've been climbing
Set me free
Oh whoa, I'm ready to fight, I'm ready to see
What's on the other side
I'm ready to cry, and just let it be Whoa, oh, let it be
Let it be
I don't have much pride
I'll put that aside to get back to me
Whoa, let it be
Let it be
I don't have much pride
I'll put that aside
Get back to me
I've faced every kind of pain
I've tried every other way
Honestly, I need a change
God knows I'm tired

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>