Come Back Home

Lauv

Doubt, doubt, doubt
It kills everything that you love
Now, now, now
I'm losing myself on the runAnd I flew to California
Thought I could leave
Every piece of you right here

Yeah I flew to California

Still wide awake

Oh the sun burned it on clearHow I still love you

I still love you

But sometimes you have to go

Trade your heart for bones

To know you need to come back home

Come back home

Paint-chipped skies

Nothing is ever as it seems

Behind these codeine eyes

Blind to the world in betweenAnd I flew to California

Thought I could leave

Every piece of you right here

Yeah I flew to California

Still wide awake

Oh the sun burned it on clearHow I still love you

I still love you

But sometimes you have to go

Trade your heart for bones

To know you need to come back home

Come back home

Getaway

I always thought I needed a getaway.

Getaway

I always thought I needed a getaway.

Getaway

I always thought I needed a getaway.

Getaway

I always thought I needed a getaway. But I still love you

I still love you

But sometimes you have to go

Trade your heart for bones

To know you need to come back home

Come back homeGetaway

I always thought I needed a getaway.

Getaway I always thought I needed a getaway. Getaway

I always thought I needed a getaway. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/