

Lean On Me (Ah-li-ayo)

Red Box

Are we happy? Are we scared?
Are we shouting? Never heard!
Are we running? Running brave!
Are we fighting? Making waves?
The first man he gets up and he says:
Well can I have a say?
Singing man on fire pray for rain
Do a mad man
Do we say?
Ten men may get up and they say:
Well can we have a say?
Have we lost the spoken word?
From the very very young to the very very old
Everybody now say aye.
From the center of the earth
To the corners of the globe
Everyone of you say aye.
Nobody better let me down
Gotta run from the other side Are we happy? Are we scared?
Are we shouting? Never heard!
The first man he gets up and he says:
Well can I have a say?
Cut of drama powel' of sound.
Are we progress?
Don't lose ground!
Ten men may get up and they say:
Well can we have a say?
Are we fighting? Making waves?
From the very very young to the very very old
Everybody now say aye.
From the center of the earth
To the corners of the globe
Everyone of you say aye.
Nobody better let me down
We will see on the other side.
Lean on me From the very very young to the very very old
Everybody now say aye.
From the center of the earth
To the corners of the globe
Everyone of you say aye.
Nobody better let me down
We will see on the other side.

Lean on me
From the very very young to the very very old
From the very very young to the very very old
Everybody now say aye. . .
