Hold My Heart (feat. ZZ Ward)

Lindsey Stirling

Don't need a hero to save me
I'm not a girl to set free
It's nothing you did to me
I've always been this wayI might be strong, I might be weak
There might be a part of me that I won't let you keep
And on this road, I've come this far
I don't need a man to hold my hand
I just want one to hold my heart(I just want one to hold my heart)Don't be afraid to hold this
Even the thorns have roses
I won't have to stand alone
But I can live on my own
I might be strong, I might be weak
There might be a part of me that I won't let you keep
And on this road, I've come this far
I don't need a man to hold my hand
I just want one to hold my heart(I just want one to hold my heart)Want you to, want you to hold my heart
Want you to, want you to hold my heary
Want you to, want you to hold my heart
Want you to, want you to hold my heartWant you to, want you to hold my heart
Want you to, want you to hold my heartWant you to Want you to
Want you to
Want you to
Want you to
Want you to hold my heart
I might be strong, I might be weak
There might be a part of me that I won't let you keep
And on this road, I've come this far
I don't need a man to hold my hand
I just want one to hold my heart(I just want one to hold my heart)I just want one to hold my heart
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/