

The Dream's Dream

Television

The elevator called me up.
She said you better start making sense.
The stone was bleeding, whirling in the waltz.
I went to see her majesty. The court had no suspense.
She said, "Dream dreams the dreamer."
I said it's not my fault.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>