The Stairs

Family of the Year

Who sleeps in beds when you've got the sunrise
Wasting time watching informercials live on channel 9
Us and Billy Mays, nowhere else to rile
Stealing blankets, sleeping in a pileThey made the sunrise for people like us
So we have an excuse as to why we're still up
Just so we can feel a little bit better
About the neighbor's angry letter on our door step
On our door f*cking step
Went to the house of some friends that I just met
Didn't feel okay so I bought some cigarettes
Tonight everyone's with everyone else getting it on I'm alone asleep with my clothes on
Maybe still awakeThey made the sunrise for people like us
So we have an excuse as to why we're still up
Just so we can feel a little bit better
About the neighbor's angry letter on our door step
On our door f*cking stepWoke up with raccoon eyes and crackled face paint
From a night of campfires and MDMA
The sun comes over the hill in Joshua tree
Let's grab a bottle of wine, some of Jamesy's weed
If it's okay
They made the sunrise for people like us
So we have an excuse as to why we're still up
Just so we can feel a little bit better
About the neighbor's angry letter on our door stepThey made the sunrise for people like us
So we have an excuse to watch it come up
It comes up
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/