Big Dater

Big Data

When we're talking and nobody's there
We're safely in the dark alone
A conversation that nobody hears
Is transferring from home to home
By the time we figure it out, it's already set in stone
And if everything I feel down inside my chest Completely fills me up like a real, real, real...Connection, it's not that typical We're connecting,
but it's something digital
I'll share a story I want you to know
It's better than the real thing
I took my time in touching myself
To enhance my personality
There's no need to dig any further
I've laid it all out, it's clear
And everything you feel down inside your chest Completely fills you up like a real, real, real...Connection, It's not that typical
The connecting, but it's something digital.
I just need this so much
I thought I was in love
With you, and me
I thought this was my destiny
And then the trail went cold
I looked everywhere
But were you ever really there
I thought that ever real, real, realConnection,
it's not that typical
The connecting, but it's something digital

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/