

The Girl (feat. Cozi Zuehlsdorff)

Hellberg

Cambridge to Boston
Lives in a world
she's lost in
Victim of compromise
He's staring at her Aberdeen heart
London eyes, Glasglow bone
She's a whistle in the catacombs
A paradox
He's in love with the statue in a marble block
He's in love with the girl that time forgot
She just shuts her ears
She's fallen too far
With salt in her scars
We'll let it taste her tears
She's fallen too far
The girl that time forgot
Wasted moments
Full of potential and torment
An angel in disguise
But he can see her Aberdeen heart
London eyes, Glasglow bone
She's a whistle in the catacombs
A paradox oh
He's in love with the statue in a marble block
He's in love with the girl that time forgot
She just shuts her ears
She's fallen too far
With salt in her scars
We'll let it taste her tears
She's fallen too far
The girl that time forgot
That time forgot The girl that time forgot
(That time forgot)
You let her go, catacombs
You let her go
You let her go, catacombs
You let her go
She just shuts her ears
She's fallen too far
With salt in her scars
We'll let it taste her tears
She's fallen too far

The girl that time forgot
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>