

Land and Sea

Claire Voyant

The night I woke in laughter
The pain came surely after
Tried to rise above the sinking feeling
Then the rain fell through my ceiling The lives I lead are not a strangers
And the quiet I need protects me from danger
I have relied on some strangers notion
Close my eyes I am thinking emotion All I have ever wanted
Isn't so strangely out of sync
With where I am now
And if the truth remains in verses
I know the worst is over now
Over land and sea in the motion
I have survived more on heat than immersion
I have relied on some divine notion
Close my eyes
Think I am sick from the motion All I have ever wanted
Isn't so strangely out of sync
With where I am now
And if the truth remains in verses
I know the verse is over now
And with a stronger tie than worship
I know you are there following me
Through all the verses I write
And if my truth remains in front of me
I know you are there
I know the worst is over now
