Party All the Time

Danny Brown

[Verse 1]
Always wanna go
Always tell her yes, never tell her no
Know you think you know everything but don't Wanna do the right thing but probably won't
So you chase the nightlife, blinded by the lights
Bottom of a empty glass, where you find life
Always left behind, because she think she right
Thinking that she grown, but always need your advice
And always in the situation that she needs your help
But wouldn't help another only care her about herself
In the V.I.P. asking where the drink at Calling her a groupie you'd think she'd really think that
She just wanna hear that that ass look right
What you doing after this fuck tomorrow night
Wanna snort some blow, pop a lotta pills
Fucking when the sun come up she don't feel
[Hook]
She wanna party all the time, party all the time
[Verse 2]
Skip semester, class is a past
Say she going back but she ain't going back
Cause time ain't wating for a future on hold
At glass tables on her knees sniffing coke
Tell her get a hold, grip on life
Rather fill her cup up liquor with no ice
Twice had an abortion, young, dumb misfortune
Rate that going she might be whoring
Signs she ignoring but doesn't recognize
Blind to what's occuring what's going on in ya mind
Seven days a week, same shit every morning
Calling her a cab from differnet niggas apartments
Wanting her to change but she won't, dog
Just another number in her fucking call log
Lost in the fog, head in the smoke
Laughing at the world cause her life is a joke[Hook]
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/